The 4th Summit Meeting on Chemical Regulations in China, Korea and Japan - SMCR 2014

We are pleased to announce that the 4th Summit Meeting on Chemical Regulations in China, Korea and Japan (SMCR 2014) will take place on 15-16 October in Shanghai and focus on the chemical regulations and safety management in Asia. SMCR 2014 will invite chemical regulatory experts, officials and industry representatives to share regulatory updates and compliance solutions with delegates with an aim to assist collaboration among countries in Asia-Pacific region, build transparent sharing of regulatory updates and enforcement measures, and promote the safety and sustainability of chemical industry in Asia-Pacific region.

Summit Meeting on Chemical Regulations in China, Korea and Japan is regarded as the pioneer summit in China to communicate chemical regulations in Asia Pacific region. The first Shanghai Summit Meeting was jointly held by CIRS, KTR, JEMAI in 2011, and has won intense support from competent authorities from these three countries since then. Shanghai Summit Meeting has rapidly become one of most influential chemical regulatory conferences worldwide.

Some of the features of SMCR 2014 include:

- The outlook, opportunities and challenges of global chemical industry in 2014;
- Updates and latest chemical registration requirements of K-REACH, CSCL, TCSCA, China MEP order No.7, etc;
- Latest chemical management information from India and Malaysia;
- Supervision of hazardous chemicals in Shanghai Free Trade Zone.
